The Courier.

VOL. 4, NO. 93, EIGHT PAGES. CONNELLSVILLE, PA., WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 28, 1906. PRICE, ONE CENT.

NEW WEST PENN LINE WILL BE OPENED.

Traffic Over the Branch Between Greensburg and Hecla Will Be Started Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the West Penn Railways Company will open up traffic over its new branch between Greensburg and Hecla. The road bed is entirely completed between these two points with the exception of the big viaduct at Armbrust. Passengers between the two points will be transferred and will be able to make connections by walking a short distance. The viaduct at this point will be one of the largest on the entire system. The iron work is already upon the ground and it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The company expects to have the road opened up from Mt. Pleasant to Hecla by August of the present year. This branch will open up an especially populous territory and will be of great convenience to Mt. Pleasant people and other towns along its line. At present their railroad facilities are limited.

QUIET RESTORED AT SPRINGFIELD, O.

Nine More Companies of Militia Will Assemble to Keep Mob That Rioted Last Night in Control This Evening.

Special to The Courier.

Springfield, O., Feb. 28.—After a wild night, during which riot, arson and mob violence held full sway, Springfield awoke quietly this morning. Only the sight of armed guardsmen patrolling the streets and the havoc wrought in the "Jungles," the negro settlement, indicated that the city had passed through one of the wildest nights in its history.

For six hours last night and early this morning the city was in the hands of a riotous mob. It assembled to hang two men who shot Brakeman Davis. Seven dives in the "Jungles" were burned, and negroes were compelled to flee to escape the fury of the angry whites. The police were overpowered. Mob rule was only stopped when two Springfield militia companies were assembled under arms. The companies arrived from Xenia and Orleanna, and took charge of the situation. The police will make no arrests in conjunction with the rioting.

It is reported that the mob will reassemble tonight, and to guard against this nine more companies of militia are being held under arms to be rushed at a moment's notice. Brakeman Davis is still alive at the city hospital, but there are no hopes of his recovery. Conrad Volmer, an aged resident, died from excitement during the rioting.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SECOND DISTRICT.

Production of Coal in Westmoreland in 1905 Was Upwards of 2,000,000 Tons—Not as Great as Fayette.

The report of C. B. Ross, of the Second Bituminous District at Greensburg places the production of coal in Westmoreland county at 6,976,042 tons. There were 5,476,191 tons of coal shipped from both counties. Number of mines, 76; number in operation, 76; coke ovens in operation, 4,798; number of fatal accidents in mines, 11; non-fatal accidents, 86; number of wives made widows, 30; number children orphaned, 59; gaseous mines in operation, 25; non-gaseous mines, 51. The district's total proudction was 8,6669,747.

Of the coal produced 5,476,191 tons were shipped to market: 191,394 tons were used at the mines for steam and heat; 78,852 tons were sold to local trade and used by employes, and 2,923,310 tons were used in the manufacture of coke. Pick miners produced 6,916,184 tons. There were mined by compressed air machines 1,050,393 tons.

TWO SENATORIAL NOMINEE CANDIDATES.

Attorney Wm. E. Crow and Hon. Andrew A. Thompson Are in the Field for Honors Next Fall.

NO DEMOCRATS ARE ANNOUNCED

E. Dale Field of Smithfield Has Announced His Candidacy for the Assembly Nomination—Fayette's Good Republican Margin.

Fayette county is to have a lively campaign next fall. At that time a State Senator for the new district now comprised of Fayette alone will be elected. Under the new Legislative apportionment Fayette will have a State Senator of its own. Greene county, which for many years has had the distinction, with few exceptions, of representing Fayette county in the State Senate, has been put with Washington county and the candidate from that district hereafter will represent Greene in the upper branch of the State Legislature.

Fayette county is safely Republican, in fact has a wide margin to come and go on. The first Senator from this district, therefore, and many more to follow will be Republicans. There will be two candidates for the nomination according to a well authenticated report this morning. W. E. Crow, Esq., of Uniontown has had his eye on the Senatorial toga for several years. He was defeated for the election by Senator Freeland of Greene county in as game a fight as any man ever put up. When reapportionment was talked of it was generally accepted that Mr. Crow would be the nominee of the Republicans and the first Senator from the new district. His legion of warm supporters through the county have accepted this for months as a foregone conclusion.

This morning it is reliably reported that Hon. Andrew A. Thompson, a member of the Assembly for several terms, will contest the Senatorial nomination with Mr. Crow. Attorney Dale Field of Smithfield has announced that he will be a candidate for Assembly from the southern end of the county.

So far no Democrats have announced their intention of contesting for either the Legislative or Senatorial nominations.

Assault and Battery Charged.

Harry McCormick of Connellsville will be given a hearing this afternoon between two and three o'clock before Squire Jacob Morgan of New Haven on a charge of assault and battery preferred by William Jennings of Connelsville. The information was made last Saturday.

NEW TOWN COUNCIL.

A DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS WILL SOON BE HELD TO ARRANGE THE PLACES.

Next Monday afternoon is the date for the organization of the new Borough Council. It is expected that the old Council will hold its meeting shortly after one o'clock and the new Council will then organize. It is likely that Clair Stillwagon will again succeed himself as President of the body.

George B. Brown is scheduled to be succeeded as borough clerk by Jos. S. Bryner, although a prominent member of Council stated this morning that he didn t know anything about such an arrangement. I. W. Rutter will receive his old time job as treasurer. The solicitors, Higbee, Dumbauld & Brown, have a monopoly of their job. S. M. Foust is not likely to be dropped from the pay roll as borough engineer.

The only place that offers a chance for changing the face of things is on the police force. If Chief Rottler gets the icy mit, it is said that Burkey McCormick will wear the chief's helmet. There are a number of vacancies on the force, one made by the resignation of August Robland and the others made by the new arrangement of the fire department.

WANTS GOOD ATTENDANCE.

President Rockwell Marietta of the Centennial executive committee has called a meeting at the borough building this evening at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is requested to be present from among the various committees that have been appointed. The committee expects to plan and outline the work of the four days' celebration.

Committee reports will be heard and if a quorum of the executive committee is present it is likely that some action will be taken upon them.

The committees that have not yet made their reports will likely come before the executive committee.

TROUT WILL ARRIVE FROM HATCHERIES.

Party of Connellsville Fishermen Arrange for Their Distribution in the Mountain Streams Tomorrow.

Local sportsmen today are preparing to take care of 22 cans of brook trout fry that will arrive here tomorrow morning from the State hatcheries at Corry, Pa. The trout were secured at the solicitation of the following gentlemen: Robert Norris, A. W. Bishop, J. C. Hefley, L. A. Howard, E. M. Johnston, W. E. Burson, L. L. West, F. B. Luteman, Harry McGraw, F. O. Goodwin, Anthony Brookman, H. P. Barkley, F. R. Graham, Wade Marietta, Sam F. Hood, George B. Freed, V. H. Soisson and H. M. Kerr.

These sportsmen are all expected to take part tomorrow morning in distributing the fish in Buck run, Middle Fork and Laurel runs in Saltlick township. The cans average about 1,500 fish each. The fish, according to local nimrods, will be ready to catch in about three years. The stocking of the streams in Springfield and Saltlick township has been carried on for a number of years and the fishermen are already realizing the benefits of stocking the streams each year.

Along with the consignment for the local men will be a shipment for John Bungard, who will take the fish to Rockwood, from which point he will take the fish to the streams in the rear of Pritts' distillery.

OPERATORS GATHER.

Committee Meets in Pittsburg This Afternoon to Discuss Question of Holding Another Joint Conference.

Pittsburg, Feb. 28.—Members of the committee of the Interstate Coal Operators' Association arrived in Pittsburg this morning at all hours. They are gathering here for the purpose of taking under consideration the proposition to hold another conference with the miners in an effort to reach a wage agreement. Prominent operators are here from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. None of them will say a word in regard to the situation or the probability of a settlement.

They will get together shortly after the noon hour in conference. It is known that there is a difference of opinion regarding the granting of any concessions, but whether or not an agreement will be reached that will be satisfactory to all parties concerned remains to be seen.

Infant Child Dead.

Vincent, 11 months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Acquavia, died yesterday afternoon at the home of its parents on Queen street of pneumonia. The funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock and was conducted by Rev. C. M. Watson. Interment in Hill Grove Cemetery.

No New Patients.

No new patients have been received at the Cottage State Hospital during the past twenty-four hours.

ISAAC HENDERSON DEAD.

A WEALTHY FAYETTE COUNTY RESIDENT EXPIRES ON TUESDAY NIGHT.

Uniontown, Feb. 28.—Isaac Henderson one of the wealthiest and best known men in Fayette county, died Tuesday night at the home of his son, Stewart Henderson, near Smock Station. He was born in Erie county, January 23, 1814. His father, Stewart Henderson, was a native of Ireland. With the exception of a few years spent at the home of his son, Mr. Henderson resided on a farm in Franklin township. His wife died several years ago.

Deceased is survived by two children, Stewart Henderson of Smock Station, and Alex Henderson of Leo, Illinois. One sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Sherrard of Vanderbilt, also survives him. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church at Pleasant View for 50 years.

CHINESE TROUBLES.

Viceroy of Kwantung Calles Legation at Washington That Anti-american Feeling Has Not Developed There.

Washington, Feb. 28.—[Special.]—Cable dispatches have been received here at the Chinese legation from the viceroy of Kwantung, the province where the boycott has been most successful and bordering on the province of Kiangsi, where foreign missionaries were massacred recently, stating that there has been no uprising within his jurisdiction. Anti-American feeling has been strongest here. It was feared the troubles of Kiangsi would spread to Kwangtung. The dispatch says no meeting of boycotters has been held recently.

The authorities have complete control of the situation. The trouble in Kiangsi is pronounced to have been wholly local.

SMALL FREIGHT WRECK

On the Redstone Branch Tore Up P. R. R. Tracks.

A freight wreck at Smock, on the Redstone branch of the P. R. R., tore up the tracks for a considerable distance and delayed traffic several hours last night.

A heavily loaded freight train was coming down the grade near Smock when one of the cars jumped the track, piling up nearly the entire train. No one was injured in the smashup.

Union Veteran Camp Fire.

The Union Veteran Legion at a recent meeting appointed the following committee to make arrangements for the observance of Appomattox day, April 9. A camp fire will be one of the features of the gathering. It is likely also that a banquet will be held.

Arm Was Broken.

Herbert Frisbee, age 4 years, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Frisbee of West Main street, fell from the sill of the window Tuesday afternoon breaking his right arm. Dr. J. F. Kerr was called and set the injured member.

HOITY TOITY TONIGHT.

DREW PACKED HOUSE AT CUMBERLAND TUESDAY NIGHT MANAGER THERE SAYS.

Tonight Weber & Fields' "Hoity Toity" will be at the Colonial Theatre. The management of the Academy of Music at Cumberland telegraphed Manager R. W. Singer this morning that this show drew a packed house there last night, "Standing Room Only" signs being out. The show came close to breaking attendance records at the Queen City. The company this year is a good one, and has made such a name for itself that there is little left to be said for it. It was here two years ago and made a great hit. The return engagement will likely be welcomed by a good house.

The musical numbers are especially attractive and the cast is a large one. The costumes and stage settings are very elaborate, and these will be an additional charm to the performance.

ENFORCING BLUE LAW.

Eight Baltimore and Ohio Trainmen Will Have Hearings Today.

RESULT OF BOLUS PROSECUTION.

For Keeping Open Last Sunday Four Separate Informations Were Made Against Bolus—Railroad Arrests Retaliatory Measure.

Uniontown, Feb. 28.—Eight B. & O. men arrested for violating the Sunday blue laws will be given a hearing this afternoon before Squire Bo[illegible]. The arrests are attributed to the prosecutions brought against Charles Bolus, the confectioner, who has been arrested so frequently in the past few months. Bolus was arrested for violating the law on each Sunday. Heretofore he has been paying the fine and costs, amounting to about $1.56, but Sunday the authorities made four informations against him, charging him with selling separately to four customers. Attorney Dumbauld, who represents Bolus, is of the opinion that Bolus cannot be fined for more than one offense in a day, while the county authorities hold otherwise.

As a result of the prosecutions Attorney Dumbauld had the informations made against railroad employes, more as a matter of deciding the question in a test case than for anything else, and it is now probable that the Sunday blue law crusade will lead in the court.

THE ELITE CLUB EUCHRE MEETING.

Members Are Entertained on Tuesday Evening at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell Marietta.

The Elite Euchre Club was charmingly entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell Marietta at their home on East Main street. The decorations were carried out in red and white, immense bouquets of American Beauty roses being effectively placed throughout the various apartments. Eight tables of euchre were brought into use during the evening and at the close of the games six prizes were awarded. Mrs. C. B. Marietta and Melvin Grey won the club prizes, Mrs. Joseph Bryner won the first visiting lady's prize, while Miss Clida Gloss of Meyersdale, the guest of Mrs. C. H. Kennel, won the second visiting lady's prize.

The first visiting gentleman's prize was won by J. R. Mestrezat, while Joseph Bryner captured the second visiting gentleman's prize. The meeting was one of the most enjoyable ones since the organization of the club. About midnight a prettily appointed luncheon was served, covers being laid for about 41 guests.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Marietta in the Marietta apartments on North Pittsburg street.

WATER LINE BREAK.

Joint in Connell Run Gave Way Early This Morning.

Sometime after midnight a joint in the Connellsville Water Company's line burst in Connell Run. The company's force of workmen was gotten out shortly after three o'clock and the break was repaired at 6 o'clock this morning. The shortage of water occasioned by the break in the line did not seriously affect any of the water patrons.

Lecture at Christian Church.

A good audience listened to an interesting lecture on "Scenes From the Life of Christ," by Rev. A. W. Place, at the Christian Church last night. Being equipped with a fine stereopticon and slides made from pictures he himself took while in Palestine, Mr. Place's lecture proved very helpful.

CONDUCTOR ARRESTED.

H. W. MILLER OF UNIONTOWN CHARGED BY PASSENGER WITH LARCENY BY BAILEE.

H. W. Miller, a conductor on the West Penn railway, was arrested in Uniontown yesterday by Constable J. F. Lutz of Hempfield township. He is charged with larceny by bailee by Joseph Soleszka, a Slavishman. Soleszka says that last Saturday, as he was going from Scottdale to Greensburg, Miller took a twenty dollar bill from him, saying that he would return the change when the car reached Greensburg. This, the informant says, Miller failed to do.

The man was located by his cap number. Street railway people say there is nothing in the charge. Miller gave bail for a hearing next Thursday afternoon, before Justice of the Peace J. Q. Truxall, before whom the information was made.

AN EVENING OF MUSIC.

Earl Kephart Gave Delightful Piano Recital at the Music Lovers' Meeting Last Night.

The Music Lovers' Club met last evening at the home of Mrs. William [illegible], East Main street. The meeting was largely attended by the members and was most enjoyable. Miss [illegible] played "Schubert's Impromptu," piano solo; Mrs. William [illegible] sang a vocal solo, "Waiting," by Millard, Miss Keck rendered a piano solo, Lableks' "Spring Song," and Miss Sneddon sang a vocal solo, "Happy Song," by Del Riego.

The feature of the evening was the piano recital by Earl Kephart. It included, Walse in A-flat; "The Revolutionary," Listz's Second Rapsody and Chopin's Valse, No. 7. The recital was of a most artistic nature and displayed the remarkable talent of the youth.

Miss Keck won the prize, a box of candy, in the musical contest. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Harriet Stoufer on March 13.

DEDICATED NEW ROOM.

Pleasant Evening Spent at the Mount Pleasant Memorial Hospital.

Members of the W. C. T. U. from Scottdale and other points attended the dedication of a new room at the Mount Pleasant Hospital last night. It was the double occasion of this dedication and the annual meeting of the hospital. Reports for the year were read and much progress in the hospital work reported.

In the afternoon a public reception was held. The occasion was a very enjoyable one. Kiferle's orchestra furnished the music.

PILE UP 20 CARS.

B. & O. Tracks at Hyndman Blocked by a Coal Train.

The B. & O. railroad tracks near Hyndman were tied up until after midnight last night as the result of wrecking 20 cars loaded with coal, which went over an embankment.

All trains were dispatched around the wreck over the Pennsylvania and Georges Creek & Cumberland railroads. The wreck was caused by a broken flange.

Warmer Weather.

Partly cloudy, warmer tonight and tomorrow is the noon weather bulletin.

HARRY BACKERT DEAD.

FORMER UNITED STATES EXPRESS ROUTE AGENT DIED AT WILMINGTON, DEL.

Friends of Harry Backert, former route agent for the United States Express Company, received information by letter that Mr. Backert had died at Wilmington, Del., last week. The cause of Mr. Backert's death is not known. He was about 50 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Backert resided in Connellsville at the Smith House for several years. About two years ago Mr. Backert retired from the United States Express Company and went east to engage in other business. His demise came as a shock to his Connellsville friends, who were many.

LOCAL MEN TO OPEN BALTIMORE BREWERY.

Party Will Leave This Evening on Train No. 10, Joining Here Other Members of Company From Pittsburg.

COMING IN LIKE LION.

From the weather that has hovered over the coke region during the past month it is evident that the groundhog is getting in some good licks. For the last few days it has been blustery, wintry weather. Last night there was a decided drop in the mercury and a heavy snow fell, covering the ground. This snow drifted to a considerable extent, but did not cause any delay to traffic. March will come in like a lion.

Over at Greensburg there has been no fall of snow whatever, but the temperature is about the same as here. The thermometer registers several degrees below freezing.

DOCTORS BANQUET AT ROUND TABLE.

Twelve Physicians in Attendance at Annual Affair Held at the Hill House, Scottdale, Tuesday Evening.

Scottdale, Feb. 28.—The annual Round Table banquet of the Scottdale physicians was held at the Hill House Tuesday evening. This event proved to be one of the most pleasant and elaborate affairs that has ever been enjoyed by the medicos of Scottdale. There were twelve physicians in attendance, Drs. A. W. Strickler, J. P. Strickler, W. H. Fetter, O. C. Engle, N. E. Sutsley, O. J. Hess, C. W. McKee, W. J. McDowell, L. T. Gilbert and E. P. Weddell of Scottdale, Dr. M. W. Horner of Mt. Pleasant and Dr. M. A. Noon of Everson.

A business meeting was held commencing at eight o'clock and an hour later the party took their places around the festive board. Proprietor E. A. Keder of the Hill House served an elaborate 12 course meal. The menu cards were tastily arranged, but it was the tasty viands that took the eyes of the doctors. Everything was served in the most approved style, and while each course was brought in with exceptional promptness, it was one o'clock before the cigars were passed around. For this reason toasts and papers that were to have been delivered were dispensed with. Impromptu speeches were made but these were very brief.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Heptasophs on Monday Evening Inducted Into Office Their New Executives for the Coming Year.

The Heptasops of Connellsville on Monday evening at their hall in the Munson building on West Main street installed officers for the ensuing year. The officers were elected at a previous meeting. The installation was in charge of District Deputy Supreme Archon W. H. Thomas of New Haven. He was assisted by Dr. Allen of Uniontown. The following are the new officers:

Archon, S. G. Zimmerman; provost, Barton Swartzwelder; secretary, H. R. Francis; financier, Charles E. DeMuth; treasurer, J. L. Kurtz; warder, Jacob Brickman; inspector, D. M. Swartzwelder; trustees, B. F. Boyts, Grant Myers and George B. Freed.

There were many visitors from Greensburg, Scottdale and Uniontown at the installation. Of the local membership of 102 there was a fine turnout. Following the installation a banquet was served for the members and visitors at Pirtchard's cafe.

The Heptasops are a fraternal insurance organization of most substantial character.

P. R. R. Official Official Retires.

W. H. Brown, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, will retire today under the provisions of the pension plan after 41 years' active service with the company.

BIG OYSTER BAKE A FEATURE.

Andrew Faulkner, Shipping Clerk for Several Years at the Pittsburg Brewing Company's Plant Here Leaves to Go With New Brewery.

A number of Connellsville men interested in the new Mt. Vernon Brewing Company, will meet a party of Pittsburgers also interested in the brewery on train No. 11 tonight and go to Baltimore, where the brewery will be formally opened to the public tomorrow. Five thousand invitations have been issued by the officers and directors of the brewery for the opening which will take place tomorrow at the foot of Ridgely street from 12 until 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is expected that several thousand people will attend the opening. The feature of the affair will be a monster oyster bake. The new brewery began making beer several months ago but the product has not been placed on the market. It is one of the largest breweries in the city of Baltimore, having a capacity of 300 barrels per day. Rockwell Marietta and Clair Stillwagon are the heaviest stockholders in the new concern.

Andrew Faulkner, shipping clerk and assistant cashier at the Pittsburg brewery, resigned his position and left last night for Baltimore where he will become bookkeeper for the new company. As a testimonial of the esteem in which the employes of the Pittsburg brewery in Connellsville held him, they last night gathered at his home on Eighth street and surprised him with a well filled purse. The action on the part of the employes was voluntary and came as a big surprise to Mr. Faulkner as he was in the midst of packing up preparatory to taking train No. 10 for the east. The purse was presented by Charles Gray in a very clever speech. On the part of the employes Mr. Gray expressed deep regret at Mr. Faulkner's departure and wished him unbounded success in his new position. John Gallagher, cashier, also made an address, complimenting Mr. Faulkner upon his good work as his assistant and expressed regret that their pleasant relations should be severed. After the speaking genial Andy took to the larder and a social evening was spent by all until train time.

Mr. Faulkner has been connected with the Pittsburg Brewing Company for a number of years and had become one of the most popular men about the brewery. He will be succeeded at the brewery by John Sullivan of town.

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian Church will be held at the home of Miss Beulah Gilmore on Fairview avenue, Thursday evening at 7.45 instead of Friday, as previously announced.

TOBACCO A NECESSITY.

JUDGE J. D. SHAFFER SO RULES IN DECIDING AN APPEAL FROM FINE.

Pittsburg, Feb. 28.—[Special.]—Judge John D. Shafer in criminal court decided that tobacco was one of the necessaries of life in hearing the appeal of George S. Merriman of West View, from the decision of a justice of the peace in fining him $25 and costs in two cases in which he was charged with selling tobacco and ice cream on Sunday.

Attorney James K. Wallace, Merriman's attorney, said the justice had no authority to impose a fine under the act of 1855. Judge Shafer, after telling Attorney Wallace he was mistaken about the provisions of the act, said he believed it was a well established fact that tobacco was a necessity of life. He stated that he was not so sure about ice cream, and said he would consider the matter and give his decision later.

TROOPS HURRY WEST.

Trouble in China Causes Government to Rush Soldiers to Orient.

RECORD BREAKING TRIP MADE

Advices From Other Side of Globe Concerning Conditions in Celestial Kingdom Are Far From Reassuring. Assault on Dowager Empress.

San Francisco, Feb. 28—All records for the movement of troops from the Atlantic seaboard to this city were broken with the arrival of a Southern Pacific special train over the Sunset route carrying the Eighth regiment of the United States army. The regiment left Jersey City at 6 p. m., February 20, and arrived here at 7 last evening. The transfer was effected in six and a half days, and had it not been for a delay of 17 hours at Lordsburg and a stop-over at Los Angeles of seven hours, the time occupied would have been but five and a half days.

Shanghai, China, Feb. 28—Alarming rumors are current here of an outbreak in the palace in Pekin.

It was also reported that Yuan Shi Kai, viceroy of Chili province, who has been drilling an army of 30 000 men, was sending some trained troops to the capital.

Manila, Feb. 28—The battleship Ohio, flagship of the American fleet on the Asiatic station, has sailed for Hongkong, where she will dock and rush repairs so as to be prepared for possible exigencies.

Japs Control the War College.

Japanese officers have assumed control of the imperial war college, trade and commercial schools at Canton.

A leading American firm in this city has received the following telegram from Canton.

"The boycott has greatly encouraged the anti-foreign feeling. Teachers, reformers, agitators and the native newspapers now have the power of that association behind them causing a remarkable growth in the reform party and secret societies, while the anti-foreign, anti dynastic viceroy of Canton, by his autocratic ruling and his antagonistic attitude to the foreign consuls, encourages the masses of the people in their anti-foreign feeling.

"In the prefecture of Chang Chow, near Amoy, recent outrages against foreign church procedure approved by Pekin has strengthened the revolutionary forces, who are now eager to try conclusions with the government.

"In a portion of China between the Yangtse valley and the Hongkong district a dangerous anti-foreign feeling exists.

"The federal troops here are preparing against the impending outbreak."

Warships Go to the Rescue.

Shanghai, Feb 28—The survivors of the massacre of missionaries at Nanshang have arrived at Kiukiang. The French cruiser Descartes and the American gunboat Quiros have sailed for Kiukiang. It is understood that the British sloop Clio and gunboat Teal are already there.

London, Feb 28 — Telegraphing from Pekin the correspondent of the Tribune says: The sub-prefect of Nanshang, who has had a bad reputation among foreigners since the Boxer troubles, invited the missionaries to a banquet. After the banquet the sub prefect withdrew and attempted to commit suicide. This act in Chinese eyes, necessitated vengeance and led to the massacre of missionaries.

The feeling in Pekin is apprehensive owing to the fact that a Chinese shoe was thrown at the dowager empress while she was walking in the palace garden. The miscreant has not been discovered.

KAISER'S SECOND SON WEDS

Prince Eitel Frederick Married to Sophie Charlotte of Oldenburg

Berlin, Feb 28—The Duchess Sophie Charlotte of Oldenburg, daughter of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg by his first marriage with Princess Elizabeth of Prussia, and Prince Eitel Frederick, the second son of the emperor and empress, were married in the chapel of the palace by the court chaplain, Dr Dryander.

Rain was falling on the chapel dome but the inside was lit by hundreds of candles, showing the delicate costumes or uniforms of about 500 persons belonging to the royal families of Germany or the principal nobility, the cabinet ministers and a number of generals and admirals. Ambassador Tower and Mrs Tower were present in the diplomatic circle.

MORE MINERS SLAUGHTERED

Six Killed Outright and 12 Injured by Explosion.

Birmingham, Ala, Feb 28—Six men were killed and 12 so badly injured that most of them are expected to die as the result of an explosion in Little Cahaba mine No 2 at Piper, Ala, at 1 o'clock.

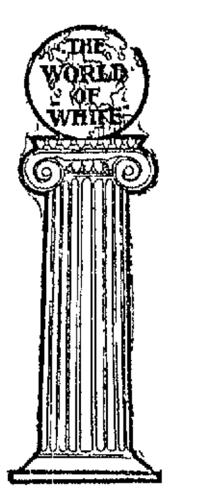

The dead are Peter Costello, Steve Memeth, Matt Eltz, John Stone, Louis Yakko, Rich Smith (negro).

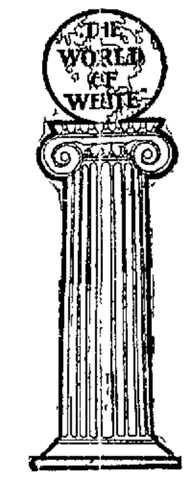

The mine is owned by the Little Cahaba Coal company, of which J R Smith of this city is president. Piper is in Bibb county in the Blocton field, about 60 miles south of Birmingham.

The Little Cahaba settlement is on a spur track of the Birmingham Mineral railway and is difficult of access or wire communication.

Chance for Profit Offered Courier Readers, Let No One Fail to Benefit

If one can only recognize the symptoms of indigestion in the early stages he is then in position to protect himself by proper attention. He is twice armed who is fore warned.

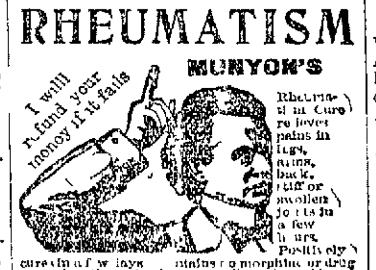

Now is the time to be benefited. Just as soon as you find that your food can be tasted after eating, when the abdomen swells or bloats, when the tongue is furred, the breath heavy, no appetite, poor, the head dull and aching occasionally, then is the time to treatment with Mi-o-na.

This reliable remedy is a perfect restorer and strengthener of the whole digestive system. It restores the function to the stomach, strengthens the nervous system and enables one to eat what he likes without fear of distress or trouble.

So uniformly successful has Mi-o-na been in curing all stomach troubles that A. A. Clarke gives a signed guarantee with every 50 cent box to refund the money if it does not cure. The risk is all his.

RIOT IN SPRINGFIELD.

Race War Precipitated in Ohio City by Fatal Shooting Affray.

NEGRO SETTLEMENT RAIDED

Mayor Asks for Militia to Assist in Keeping Order—Houses Battered Down and Saloon Looted by Thousands of Angry Men.

Springfield, O., Feb. 28.—At 9 o'clock last night mob violence broke out here as the result of a shooting in the railroad yards in which M. M. Davis, a brakeman, was perhaps fatally shot by two negroes, Preston Ladd of Bellefontaine and Edward Dean of this city. Ladd was taken to the hospital as a result of injuries received presumably in connection with the shooting of Davis.

Dean was taken to Dayton after a hurried conference of officials. A mob of 1,000 men and boys formed and marched to "the jungles," a locality inhabited by colored people, with the announced purpose of burning that section.

Mayor Todd shortly after 9 o'clock asked that Companies B and E of the Third regiment, Ohio National guard, be called out.

The mob soon reached the "jungles" and battered one house to pieces with stones and posts used as battering rams. A general fire alarm was sounded. The sounding of the gong served to fill the streets with people and the feeling in the crowds was tense.

Mob Loots a Saloon.

The mob entered Kempler's saloon on East Columbia street and quickly looted it. Kempler and his wife fled, leaving their three little children asleep in a room over the saloon. The building was riddled with bullets and stones, and it was only by the hardest efforts of police and firemen that a way was forced through the mob and the children rescued. After the pillaging of the saloon drunkenness was an added feature of the riot. At 11 o'clock members of the mob broke through a cordon of police and set fire to a house in the "jungles" which was quickly burned down.

Sergeant Creager, who had charge of the squad of police, was hit on the head with a brick and seriously wounded.

A request was sent out at 10 o'clock for the Xenia military company, but the troops had not arrived at 11 o'clock.

At midnight six houses, which had been fired by the mob, were burning fiercely and the police had apparently lost control of the situation. Only six members of the local militia responded to the mayor's call and the Xenia company which is expected had not arrived.

Soldiers Push Mob Back.

The city authorities succeeded at 12:15 o'clock in assembling parts of Companies B and E of the Third regiment, which are stationed here. The total force numbers about 75 men. They are now on the scene of the fire and have pushed the mob back both ways in Columbia street, east from Water street and west from Foster street. Just as the troops arrived one more building was fired and no efforts were made to save it. The efforts of the police and firemen and the guardsmen are now directed solely to forcing the rioters back and saving the property outside of the doomed square.

At 12:45 Sheriff Almoney wired Governor Pattison the following: "Send all possible troops tonight and hold others in readiness."

Sergeant Creager, the policeman hit in the face with a brick, is in a serious condition. The mob is stoning and jeering the militiamen, but a show of bayonets has sufficed so far to keep the rioters on the move. The rumor that out of town troops are momentarily expected is having a quieting effect on the mob.

AGENTS ASK TO BE HEARD

Life Insurance Solicitors Say Their Jobs Are in Danger.

New York, Feb. 28.—The Life Underwriters' association of New York has decided to send representatives to the legislature at Albany to lay before that body the contentions of life insurance agents regarding recommendations of the special legislative insurance committee as to the compensation to be paid to agents. These recommendations, the meeting declared in a resolution, will practically legislate thousands of honest and able men out of a livelihood and their profession of existence.

Not having a hearing before the insurance investigating committee during its investigation the agents declare that they should be heard by the legislature.

Sight Is Restored on Death Bed.

Crestline, O., Feb. 28.—Christian Morkel, a wealthy retired farmer, is dead here, age 83. Morkel had been blind for five years, but about an hour before he died he opened his eyes and his sight was restored, enabling him to see his family gathered about his bedside. He leaves five sons.

Mrs. Corey in South Dakota.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 28.—Mrs. William Ellis Corey, wife of President Corey of the United States Steel corporation, has arrived in Sioux Falls from the west. She has taken apartments here for an indefinite period. She refused to be interviewed.

CONFLUENCE

Interesting Items From Somerset County's Hustling Town.

Confluence, Feb. 27.—The 16 men who arrived yesterday on No. 48, and who are working for the B. & O. or Wabash, were conveyed by hack up the Casselman opposite Fort Hill and will work on the south side of the Casselman river. They will make Confluence their headquarters and will be conveyed back and forth by Shipely & Bird.

Miss Jennie Neville of Connellsville is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. B. Coughenour, of Latrobe avenue.

Hal Hostetler, the tailor, who has been delivering several tailor made suits in the coke regions, returned last night on No. 10 and can be seen back in his shop again.

John O. Huff of Drakelown, who has been suffering with a weak eye for some time, which has become very painful to him of late, having failed to get relief by the best treatment available, left Tuesday morning on No. 13 for the Cottage State Hospital, Connellsville, to have an operation performed. We hope it will be successful and Mr. Huff will come home much benefitted by the operation.

H. S. Lancaster, who has employment at Connellsville and whose home is in Henry Clay township, arrived today on No. 48 and spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Belle Lancaster.

B. L. Lincoln, who lately moved to Pittsburg, was a Confluence business caller here today and was calling on his friends.

We wish to correct an item in the Confluence letter which appeared a few days ago regarding the sock social. It was the active workers of the M. E. Church instead of the ladies of the Lutheran Church.

C. H. Bowlin, our local electrician, with the assistance of William Woodmaney is connecting up the new M. E. Church today with the electric light plant. They are having a cold job, as it is a very stormy day here, snowing to beat the band.

D. H. Pore, our new merchant, has put in a large consignment of groceries in connection with his clothing, etc.

S. P. Spitsnagle has returned from his trip and can be seen at his office on Hugart street at all times. When in town drop in and see him. If you have any items you wish to have published in The Courier hand them to him. For all the news of the day and your home news buy a Courier.

Harvey Greer of Confluence is driving the mail hack for Henry Cence, who has the mail route from Ursina to Confluence. Harvey is a good boy and you need not fear to send your packages with him. They will be safe.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Kreger and Mrs. Linginfield are no better today.

It will be interesting to you to watch the For Sale, Want and Found column in this paper. If you have anything to sell or want to buy, try it.

The following guests were registered at the Hotel Gilchrist Monday: J. G. Smith, Connellsville; Frank Y. Springer, Uniontown; James D. Kurnish, Rockwood; S. P. Parks, Clarksburg, W. Va.; A. C. Pigman, Bidwell; Thomas Johnson, Bidwell; A. F. Mitchell, Pittsburg; H. D. Cook, Scottdale; Cornelius Collins, Andrew Ridenour, Bidwell; J. Raymer, Uniontown; J. S. Ryline, Pittsburg.

Lloyd Fisher, who is traveling with a magic lantern show, left today for Ohio to join his company, after spending a few days with his family.

Dr. W. J. Bailey of Connellsville and Dr. W. S. Griffith operated on Fuller Hendrickson, the 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Hendrickson, for enlarged tonsils.

Dr. Bowman of this place and Dr. Bailey of Connellsville performed an operation on Melvin Sellers the first of this week for throat trouble. The patient is much relieved and is getting along nicely at this writing.

William Relber of Moccasin, wife and daughter were in Confluence Tuesday doing some shopping.

Orville Osler was a caller in Confluence today.

ROCKWOOD

Bright Paragraphs from the Big Somerset County Borough.

Rockwood, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Coughenour, wife of the B. & O. night agent, Charles H. Coughenour, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leer, at their home near Kingwood.

The Wabash and Western Maryland railroad companies' civil engineers arrived in town Monday night and are now engaged in surveying the line the Wabash will take on the opposite side of the river.

Herbert Feastor, for the past several years yardmaster for the B. & O. at this place, resigned his position on Monday. Mr. Feastor moved his family here from West Virginia and he will likely return to that State. He was an obliging and an excellent railroad man and has lots of friends who will be sorry to see him depart from us.

William Zufall was busily engaged yesterday and today moving his household goods from the farm near Casselman to his home on East Main street, where he will make his abode in the future.

With the Wabash engineers came the B. & O. engineers who are continually keeping pace with the former in their survey up to this time. Instead of placing obstructions in the way of the Wabash the B. & O. men have been assisting them.

Brakeman M. C. Day, son of Rev. C. H. Day, returned last evening on train No. 5 from a short visit in Maryland.

Mrs. Annie Weisel has joined her husband, Charles Weisel, at Ralphton, where they will board for a while, still keeping their household goods stored away here.

The Yough Carpet Cleaning Co.

EIGHTH STREET, NEW HAVEN, PA.

Will throw its doors open on March 5th, to the good housewives of New Haven, Connellsville and vicinity.

Old methods are fast changing, the luxuries of yesterday have become the necessities of today. Work that a few years ago was drudgery is now being done and done better by machinery, especially designed for the purpose. This is especially true of carpet cleaning. The most disagreeable part of housecleaning is no longer a drudgery. Very few people in the larger cities or even in the smaller towns where facilities are available do their own carpet cleaning. There are several reasons for it:

First, Carpet cleaning is not only the most disagreeable part of housecleaning, but hand-beaten carpets are never more than half cleaned and are depreciated about ten per cent. by every hand cleaning. Machine cleaned carpets last longer, look better and are perfectly clean, the nap is raised and a new appearance imparted to the goods.

There is another reason fast coming to the front and that is the 20th century idea of disinfection. Sputum from the sidewalk and filth from the street are transferred to the floor coverings; the dust that arises from the carpets is not only dirt but disease germs, animal and vegetable matter which is injurious to those who breathe it. While there is no danger to the carpet-cleaner who handles these goods, yet, there is to people who live in and breathe an atmosphere laden with it. A hand beating or ordinary machine cleaning will not destroy the germs. Our nonpareil cleaner and our process of disinfection thoroughly cleans the carpets and destroys all disease germs that may be in them. We raise, clean and relay. Give us your carpets and we will do the rest.

MR. COOPER IS ALERT.

Tributes to Congressman's Attention to Wants of His District.

Waynesburg Times.

It would be exceedingly difficult to name a more energetic, efficient, painstaking and diligent Congressman than the Hon. Allen F. Cooper of Uniontown. Indeed Mr. Cooper has been instant in season and out of season, on behalf of his Greene county constituents, one and all, irrespective of party or factional differences. The Congressman has not only political, but personal and commercial interests, in common with his Greene county friends, and he does not forget them for a minute.

He has served "the State of Little Greene" most satisfactorily and conspicuously in these three items:

1. He did much in extending and improving our rural mail service, and has plans to do more and better by us, still.

2. Through his quiet but forceful and effective efforts, permission from Congress was obtained for the construction of an independent railroad and trolley companies' bridge across the Monongahela river at McCann's Ferry. So adroitly was this done, that the argus-eyed Pennsy didn't realize that a much was being stolen upon it, until it was too late to strangle the franchise.

This was the real beginning of the recent vigorous revival and agitation of railroad surveying and coal purchasing in our county. This bridge franchise has now become the property of the Wabash system and construction work on said bridge began February 1, as duly announced in the Times. The government permit carries the rights of a double-decked structure, providing for steam and trolley car lines, public roads, footways, etc. The franchise made possible the freeing of Greene county, with its limitless wealth of coking coal and high-grade limestone, from the crushing grasp of the Pennsylvania, that giant among transportation monsters. Mr. Cooper deserves to be well thought of on that single score, if for nothing else.

3. When the Daily Times sprung the matter of a public building for Waynesburg, Mr. Cooper wrote its editor at once asking for information, and said he would be glad to present and push the measure to the limit of his ability. He has already introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 for the purchase of a site and the erection of said building. It is thought that a public building bill will be passed this Congress, carrying $15,000,000, and unless Pittsburg gobbles the lion's share for Pennsylvania, there are good hopes for Waynesburg's being cared for as above indicated.

In view of all these well done matters, the Times doffs its tile to the genial Congressman from the Twenty-third, and wishes more power unto him.

WESTMORELAND COURTS.

Damage Case Between C. I. Mills and Derry Twp. for $25,000.

Greensburg, Feb. 28.—In Judge McConnell's court, the trial of the case of Charles I. Mills vs Derry township was resumed Tuesday. This is the $25,000 damage suit, the basis of which is an injury alleged by the plaintiff to have been sustained by him falling from a bridge over a small creek in Derry township on the evening of November 18, 1902. Mr. Mills, according to the averments contained in his statement of claim, will be permanently disabled as a result of the accident. A motion for a compulsory non-suit, made by counsel for the defendant township, was refused.

The following cases have been continued: E. E. Erhard vs. Pennsylvania Railroad Company, trespass; Kusselle & Wiggenstein vs. J. M Harlow & Company, appeal; Jesse Griffen vs. George W. Shaffer, appeal; R. A. Layman and others vs. Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, trespass.

The case of S. A Weith vs. Earnest Tice has been settled.

The trial of the case of E. L. Brindle against the H. C. Frick Coke Company was resumed Tuesday morning in Common Pleas Court before Judge Doty, the jury having returned from viewing the premises. Many witnesses have been summoned to testify in this case and the greater portion of the week may be consumed in its trial.

The defendant company is the successor in title to the original purchaser of the Brindle farm in Unity township. At the time the coal was sold, there was a reservation of over two acres, or that portion under and adjacent to the buildings. It is alleged by the plaintiff that the defendant company has trespassed upon the coal especially reserved and that its mining operations have caused the surface to cave in and has caused much damage to the buildings. J. J. Nell was the first witness called on behalf of the plaintiff. Mr. Nell's testimony related chiefly to the location of the property and the explanation of surveys.

Orphan's Court.

The hearing of the many exceptions in the Orphan's court to the account of Timothy Conner, administrator of the estate of Nancy Conner of Derry township, developed many family differences. Timothy Conner, the administrator, is a very old man, and his memory is not clear upon all matters relating to the estate. He insisted, however, that he had fully accounted for all property belonging to his sister.

On the distribution list for today the only exceptions filed were in the case of Alexander Sproull of Allegheny township, and these were withdrawn before the case came up for hearing. Some testimony was heard in this estate, however, bearing upon the allowances of certain claims against the estate.

The following cases were heard. Harry Fennell, New Alexandria, for distribution, $8,320.28; Michael Hoyman, Donegal township, for distribution, $3,744.34, Alexander Sproull, Allegheny township, for distribution, $2,583.90; John G. Strouble, Rostraver township, for distribution, $1,316.38; Albert B. Layton, Derry township, for distribution, $387.83; Margaret Overly, Mt. Pleasant township, $171.95, Martin Kuhns, Unity township, for distribution, $597.55; John Foley, Fairfield township, for distribution, $181,-05; Alice E. Long, Hempfield township, for distribution, $122.25; John B. Huston, New Florence, for distribution, $644.79; Alexander Grieves, North Huntingdon township, account balanced.

CHANGE IN OFFICIALS.

Imoprtant Changes In Positions at Westmoreland Coal Co.'s Mines.

T. A. Douthitt, superintendent of the Export mines of the Westmoreland Coal Company, has resigned his position to take effect March 1. He has accepted the position of constructing engineer with the H. C. Frick Coke Company. Mr. Douthitt went from the Frick company to Export, and he has been a successful and satisfactory superintendent.

He will be succeeded by John McLain, mine foreman of Westmoreland shaft. Mr. McLain has been with the Westmoreland company for 25 years and is a highly successful foreman. Adolph Boller, one of Mr. McLain's assistants at the shaft, succeeds Mr. McLain as mine foreman.

AN EXPLANATION

By the Y. M. C. A. of Their Financial Needs for New Building.

Editor The Courier: An article under the heading, "Campaign to Raise Funds Planned," apepared in the most prominent place on the front page of yesterday's issue of your paper, and demands a word of explanation.

What is said of the work and plans of the Ladies' Auxiliary is essentially correct and the work of the society deserves the most cordial commendation. Six societies in the various churches have promised to aid in the furnishing of the building by providing the money required for one each of the ten dormitories, about $50 or $60 being the estimated cost of the outfit for a room. It is likely that some other societies or individuals will assume responsibility for others of these rooms.

The statements concerning the approaching completion of the building and its adaptability to the work are correct. It is also true that the Association expects some assistance from the executive committee in the visit of Mr. Carruthers, but the amount of money which will have to be raised is several times $2,000 if the indebtedness is to be liquidated. The announcement in reference to a program of speakers, etc., and a three days' financial campaign, is, to say the least, premature, inasmuch as no plans of that kind have been made by the directors, so far as the writer has been informed, and he is usually in a position to know something of any such movement. The statements concerning the amount of money to be raised and the three day campaign feature are the ones we particularly desire to have corrected.

Thanking you again for your interest and sympathy in our work, we are very respectfully, The Young Men's Christian Association, C. E. Reed, general secretary.

SYSTEM EXPENSIVE.

Over $28,000,000 Spent by State Last Year for Public Schools.

Harrisburg, Feb. 28.—The annual report of Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, now in the hands of the State printer, shows that there are 2,561 school districts in the State, outside of Philadelphia, and 31,319 schools. Number of township high schools is 197. There are 8,026 men teachers and 24,32 women teachers. The average monthly salary of the men is $51.81; of the women, $39 34.

Number of pupils outside of Philadelphia is 1,209 908. Total amount paid in teachers' wages was $14,142,17).84; for text books, $703,771.63; for all other school supplies, $700,777.83. Appropriation for free tuition of pupils in State normal schools was $237,500.

Total cost of schools last year, as met by State, county and city, was $28,565,457 16. The scale of wages for women teachers shows an average increase of $3.46 per month; for men, $2.79 per month. The State maintains a school in Warren county for Cornplanter Indians, 31 of whom attended it at a total cost to the State of $188.06.

ALL WHISKY ARTIFICIAL.

Reasons Given for Exempting It from Pure Food Bill.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Warwick G. Hough of St Louis spoke before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce recently in opposition to the Hepburn pure food bill. He said the provisions relating to whisky did not insure purity and were misleading. A straight whisky may be either pure or impure, he said, and a blended whisky may also be either pure or impure.

All whisky is artificial and not a natural product, and he said it is not fair to compel distillers to make public their formula for flavoring whisky, as this is a trade secret.

Dr. R. G. Eccles of Brooklyn, N. Y., appeared on behalf of canners and manufacturers and insisted that the use of preservatives in quantities not injurious to health should be permitted.

Nutt Gives $50,000 Bond.

Charles H. Nutt, recently elected tax collector of Jefferson township, has sent his bond to the county commissioners. The amount is $50,000 and the sureties are Harvey J. Steele, Joseph S. Elliott and Wm. H. Binns. All collectors' bonds will be presented to the court for approval on Wednesday, March 7.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Western Pennsylvania—Fair Wednesday; Thursday fair and warmer; fresh northwest to north winds.

READY!

That's the word now. We might use this entire space in telling you how much better and larger the showing is than anything this store has ever before had to display. But instead of doing that we invite you to come and see and judge for yourself. Pass your opinion of the many pretty things we have here to show. Learn the prices and buy or not just as you please. We believe this display here is worthy of a very close inspection by you. We believe that you can get a better idea of the really correct materials and garments for the coming season's wear than you can elsewhere. We know that these goods are bought right and priced right and that we are proud of the best display of Spring and Summer goods we ever had to show.

The Dress Goods

Starting at 50 cents the yard and from that on up as high as you care to go and the first statement we have to make is that we are willing to have you judge the entire stock of our showing of goods at 50 cents the yard. All the new colors and shades in the showing as well as in the finer fabrics. In the goods priced higher most of the fabrics are exclusive with this store, goods that you'll not find shown elsewhere in this vicinity. Many of these we have in individual patterns, with no duplicate and every day you put off coming means that many less for you to see.

The Suits and Coats

We have prepared for an increased business in this department. Prettier suits and more of them. Just as few of each kind as possible; in most cases only one. All the new colors and shades, short and long sleeves, new shaped skirts. A collection of choice garments that's worth your while to see.

New Wash GooDs

Dimities, Lawns, Ginghams and Percales at 10c, 12½c and 15c the yard. Dainty patterns and colorings that will be scarce later on—a full stock here to choose from now.

Children's White and Colored Dresses

Size from 1 to 6 years, prices from 50c each up to $3.00 for colored and $5.00 to $6.00 for the white. Dainty little garments, made as you would have them, made out of material that will wear and laundry well. Sold at prices that make it expensive to you, if you count your time at anything, to buy the material and make them yourself.

Embroideries at 10c the yd.

A table full of these in the Cloak Room and every piece shown worth at least a half more, some double this price.

SMITHFIELD.

Chatty Letter from the Metropolis of Georges Township.

Smithfield, Feb. 28.—C. B. Morgan, president of the Young People's Society having in charge the entertainment in Town hall March 3, and for which they had booked the California Normal Male Quartette, received a message last night from there that on account of the manager of the quartette being taken suddenly ill with typhoid fever, they would have to cancel their engagement for that date. They are now in communication with the W. V. U. Glee Club to fill the date.

Council held a special meeting last night called for the purpose of settling all the business of the old Council and giving the new members a clear docket when they take their seats at the next regular meeting which will be the first Tuesday of March. They ordered orders drawn for all bills that came before the body except a bill of Burgess Core for rent of Council room, which there seemed to be a misunderstanding as to the price. The Burgess claimed that they were to pay $1 per nigh for the last year. The members of Council claimed it was $12 per year whether they met 12 nights or 20 nights.

A. Core, the veteran auctioneer, went to High House today to cry a sale of the personal property of C. E. Jones.

The many friends and comrades in Fayette county of Capt. Frank Kysor will be glad to know that he still in the land of the living. A letter dated Cadiac, Mich., February 25, in answer to a resolution of sympathy tendered him by Jerry Jones Post, G. A. R, of this place, gives evidence that he is making a brave battle against an insidious malady that has him in its grip. He says he is in a measure a prisoner in his home. The nature of his complaint is such that he cannot be long away. He thinks he is holding his own and his physician thinks he is gaining ground. Capt. Kysor does not say what his ailment is, but from other sources we learn that it is an incurable disease which the grand old man is bravely combating.

George Brown, named as executor in the will of Rev. B. F. Brown, his father, had the will probated yesterday. He appointed J. I. Grover and J. Jenkins as appraisers to appraise the personal property. They were sworn by a justice here and entered upon their duties today. The deceased left a large estate, consisting principally of lands in Georges and Springhill township. He had deeded the mansion house and a hundred acres to his son George. He also owned the farm adjoining the one George lives on, containing over a hundred acres. He stipulates in his will that this shall be sold at his death and after all his just debts are paid out of the proceeds the residue shall be divided equally between the daughters of the testator. A farm of 50 acres adjoining the home place he stipulates that at his death his son B. F. Brown, Jr., shall have the proceeds of this farm during his lifetime. At the latter's death it is to go to the children of B. F. Brown, Jr., by his first wife. They are Mrs. J. A. Low, Mrs. Lorence Hague, Mrs. Omer Vance and J. B. Brown, all of this place. He names in the will W. J. Ruble as trustee to look after the interests of these children.

THE LIGHTNING CONDUCTOR.

Charming Comedy at the Colonial Theatre Tuesday Evening.

The small audience at the Colonial theatre Tuesday evening enjoyed a treat such as does not fall the lot of Connellsville people very often. Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon were the attractions in the farce comedy, The Lightning Conductor. This comedy is dramatized from the novel of C. N. and A. M. Williamson, and appeals particularly to automobile enthusiasts. The play was excellent. The leading characters were given strong support by the entire cast. This excellent company created a very pleasing effect. One thing was lacking which possibly did not please some of the sordid frequenters, many of whom are on the free list too, of the playhouse, and that was a chorus of half dressed girls, but as a clean, clever comedy, the Lightning Conductor would be hard to beat. Mr. Kelsey had a hard part to portray. Impersonating a chaffeur, his love making was greatly handicapped. The actor was natural and every pose showed that he was perfectly at ease in the part he was playing. Miss Shannon was excellent. Not only is she pretty, but her ability to act in a simple unassuming manner is charming.

There are few shows that do not have at least one character who is weak; who jars upon the nerves of those who watch him, but the play last evening was one of those few. All of the players were good. Jabez Barrows, the wealthy Englishman who made his money in "trade," was portrayed by John Bunny. Mr. Bunny has the accent and makeup, and his part was well portrayed. In writing the play the composer got some Chicago slang into the Englishman's part, but Bunny was so good himself that this discrepancy can be overlooked. Edward Durand as Tallyrand, was splendid. His French accent was all that could be desired, and as a scheming villian Durand left nothing to be desired.

Sarah McVicker as Aunt Mary, Miss Jewel Power, Charles Lamb, Miss Laura Linden and Wilmer H. Bently were among the strongest in the cast. That such a small house should greet this play is to be regretted, but such is the usual fate that befalls the genuinely good shows that come here lacking in features verging on the burlesque.

RUN DOWN AND NERVOUS.

Miss Doerr's Letters Tells How Vinol Helps People in This Condition.

By request the following letter is published in the hope that persons who are in poor condition will be convinced that Vinol is really what we claim.

ANNA DOERR.

Miss Anna Doerr, a prominent woman of Evansville, Ind., writes, "My health was broken, my appetite gone, my nerves shattered, and I was simply in a wretched condition. I had tried so many medicines and doctors without help that I was thoroughly discouraged. As a last resort I tried the cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, and to my surprise, it had none of the fishy, greasy or disagreeable taste of old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions, and it was delicious to take. In a remarkable short time it gave me a hearty appetite, built up my nervous system, and restored me to perfect health and strength."

"Vinol cures such conditions as these because it contains every one of the medicinal, curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil and without a drop of the system-clogging oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. It imparts in a natural manner strength and vigor to every organ of the body, aids digestion and makes rich, red blood. We ask every run down, nervous and debilitated, aged or weak person in Connellsville and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, or bronchitis, to try Vinol on our guarantee. It costs nothing if it fails to give satisfaction." F. E. Marked, Druggist.

WHO IS THIS CORBIN?

Gardner of Michigan Objects to His Retirement as Lieutenant General.

GROSVENOR HOLDS CONTRARY

Ohio River and Lake Erie Ship Canal Bill Passes House—Military Appropriation Bill Engages Attention—Spirited Argument About Soldiers.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Military matters held the attention of the house, the army appropriation bill being under consideration for amendment. That General Corbin and General MacArthur might become lieutenant generals, the provision in the bill abolishing that rank was eliminated on a point of order raised by Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, who substituted an amendment to abolish the grade after these officers had been promoted, but this, too, met defeat.

MAJOR GENERAL HENRY C. CORBIN.

Members of the appropriations committee disputed the right of the military committee to appropriate for an apparatus for fire control of field artillery, but without success. Only eight of the 50 pages of the bill were passed upon when the house adjourned.

The house passed the Dalzell bill chartering the Lake Erie & Ohio Ship Canal company with an authorized capital of $60,000,000.

Corbin Not a Commander.

After Mr. Grosvenor had announced that he should offer an amendment to abolish the rank at a future time so as not to exclude from promotion General Corbin and General MacArthur, Mr. Gardner (Mich.) asked:

"Who was this man Corbin? The highest rank he ever attained in war was that of lieutenant colonel and commanded a regiment. He never originated or executed a campaign; he never commanded an army in battle; practically speaking, he knows nothing about war except as the commander of a regiment.

"This is nothing against him, it is not saying that he would not have been, under other circumstances, a great commander, but he was not and that settles it.

"General Corbin has been substantially a bureau officer for years, and not a general commanding an army."

Mr. Keifer (Ohio) replied that while it was true General Corbin did not have high rank in the Civil war, he had as high a record of honor as any soldier or officer. In the Spanish war he was responsible in a large sense, he said, for the organization of the volunteer army.

Senate to Vote on Statehood Bill.

Mr. Grosvenor's point or order was sustained. He offered an amendment abolishing the rank after it shall become vacant after January 1, 1907. Mr. Butler (Pa.) made a point of order against this amendment, which defeated it.

The senate agreed to vote on the statehood bill before adjournment on Friday, March 9. The proposition to take the vote at that time was made by Mr. Beveridge and there was little difficulty in reaching an understanding. The suggestion immediately followed a speech in support of the bill by Mr. Hopkins, during the course of which Mr. Hale suggested that the territories were not prepared for statehood and suggested that their admission be deferred.

BANKER BECOMES PEDDLER

S. S. Schilling Applies to Mayor for License to Peddle.

East Liverpool, O., Feb. 28.—Dropping within a year from banker to peddler has been the fate of S. S. Schilling of Columbiana, this county. He arrived in this city and applied to the mayor for a license to peddle kitchen knives. His profit on a sale is 50 cents. He declared to the mayor that he was just as happy in making a sale of the knives as he was a few months ago in handling bank notes, gold certificates and silver.

His bank at Columbiana failed last summer, and since that time he has been the defendant in numerous suits in the county court. He is nearly 70 years old and has been peddling for two months. He says he makes as high as $4 a day.

The Switchman's Story

SHOCKLEY

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright, 1900, by S. S. McClure Co.

"HE'S rather a bad lot, I guess," wrote Bucks to Callahan, "but I am satisfied of one thing—you can't run that yard with a Sunday school superintendent. He won't make you any trouble unless he gets to drinking. If that happens, don't have any words with him." Bucks underscored three times. "Simply crawl into a cyclone collar and wire me. Sending you eighteen loads of steel tonight and six cars of ties. Blair reports section 10 ready for track layers and Mear's outfit moving into the Palisade canyon. Push the stuff to the front."

It was getting dark, and Callahan sat in that part of the Benkleton depot he called the office, pulling at a muddy root that went unaccountably hot in sudden flashes. He took the pipe from his mouth, leaving his foot on the table, and looked at the bowl resentfully, wondering again if there could be powder in that infernal tobacco of Rubedo's. The mouthpiece he eyed as a desperate man might ponder a final shift.

The pipe had originally come from God's country, with a beautiful amber mouthpiece and a beautiful bowl, but it was a present from his sister and had been bought at a dry goods store. Once when thinking—or, if you please, when not thinking—Callahan had held a lighted match to the beautiful amber mouthpiece instead of to the tobacco, and in the fire that ensued they had hard work to save the depot.

Callahan never wrote his sister about it. He thought only about buying pipes at dry goods stores and about being, when they exploded, a thousand miles from the man who sold them. There was plenty in that to think about. What he now brought his teeth reluctantly together on was part of the rubber tube of a dismantled atomizer, in happier post-Christmas days a toilet fixture. But Callahan had abandoned the use of bay rum after shaving. His razor had gone to the scrap, and on Sunday morning he merely ran a pair of scissors over the high joints—for Callahan was railroading—and on the front.

After losing the mouthpiece he would have been completely in the air but for little Chris Oxen. Chris was Callahan's section gang. His name was once Ochsner, but that wasn't in Benkleton. Callahan was hurried when he made up the payroll and put it Oxen, as being better United States. I say United States because Callahan said United States in preference to English.

Chris had been in America only three years, but he had been in Russia 300 and in that time had learned many ways of getting something out of nothing. When the red haired dispatcher, after the explosion, cast away with bitterness the remains of the pipe, Chris picked it up and by judicious action on the atomizer figured out a new mouthpiece no worse than the original, for, while the second, like the first, was of rubber, it was not of the explosive variety.

Chris presented the remodeled root to Callahan as a surprise. Callahan, in a burst of gratitude, promoted him on the spot. He made little Chris foreman. It didn't bring any advance in pay, but there was the honor. To be foreman was an honor, and, as little Chris was the only man on the yard force, he became by promotion foreman of himself.

So Callahan sat thinking of the ingenuity of Chris, reflecting on the sting of construction tobacco and studying over Bucks' letter.

The yard was his worry—not that it was much of a yard; just a dozen runs off the lead to take the construction material for Callahan to distribute fast as the grade was pushed westward. The trouble at the Benkleton yard came from without, not from within.

The road was being pushed into the cattle country, and it was all easy till they struck Benkleton. Benkleton was just a hard knot on the Yellow Grass trail, a squally, sandy cattle town. There were some bad men in Benkleton. They didn't bother often. But there were some men in Benkleton who thought they were bad, and these were a source of constant bedevilment to the railroad men.

Southwest of the yard, where the river breaks sheer into the bottoms, there lived and still lives a colony of railroad laborers, Russians. They have squatted there, burrowed into the face of the bench like sand swallows and scraped caves out for themselves, and the name of the place is Little Russia.

This was in the troublous days when the cowboys, homesick for evil, would ride around Little Russia with rope and gun and scare the pioneers cross-eyed. The cattle fellows spent the entire winter months, all sad and sunshine, putting up schemes to worry Callahan and the Little Russians. The headquarters for this restless gang were at Pat Barlle's place, across from the postoffice. It was there that the cowboys loved to congregate. To Callahan Pat Barlle's place was a wasps' nest, but to Chris it was a den of wolves, and of a dreader sort than Russian wolves, for Barlle's pack never slept.

The east and west section men could run away from them on hand cars. It was the yardmen who caught it, and it grew so bad they couldn't keep a switchman. About 10 o'clock at night, after No. 23 had pulled in and they were distributing a train load of bridge timber, a switchman's lantern would go up in signal, when—pist!—a bullet would knock the lamp clean out of his hand and the nerve clean out of his head. Handling a light in the Benkleton yard was like smoking a celluloid pipe—you never could tell when it would go off.

Cowboys shot away the lamps faster than requisitions could be drawn for new ones. They shot the signals off the switches and the lights from the tops of moving trains. Whenever a brakeman showed a flicker two cowboys stood waiting to snuff it. If they missed the lamp, they winged the brakeman. It compelled Bucks after awhile to run trains through Benkleton without showing even a light. This, though tough, could be managed, but to shunt flats in the yard at night with no light or to get a switchman willing to play young Tell to Peg Leg Reynolds' William for any length of time was impossible. At last Bucks, on whom the worry reflected at headquarters, swore he would fight them with fire, and he sent Shockley. Callahan still sat speculating on what he would be up against when Shockley arrived.

The impression Bucks' letter gave him, knowing Bucks to be frugal of words, was that Shockley would rise up with cartridges in his ears and bowie knives dangling from his watch chain. To live in fear of the cowboys was one thing, but to live in fear of the cowboys on the one hand and in terror of a yardmaster on the other seemed, all things considered, confusing, particularly if the new ally got to drinking and his fire scattered. Just then train 59 whistled. Pat Barlle's corner began to sputter its salute. Callahan shifted around behind his bomb-proof, lit his powderhorn and, looking down the line, wondered whether Shockley might be on that train.

It was not till the next night, though, that a tall, thinnish chap, without visible reasons for alighting, got off 59 and walked tentatively down the platform. At the ticket office he asked for the assistant superintendent.

"Out there on the platform talking to the conductor."

The thin fellow emerged and headed for Callahan. Callahan noticed only his light, springy amble and his hatchet face.

"Mr. Callahan?"

"Yes."

"Bucks sent me up to take the yard."

"What's your name?"

"Shockley."

"Step upstairs. I'll be up in a minute."

Shockley walked back into the depot, but he left the copper haired assistant superintendent uncertain as to whether it was really over, whether Shockley had actually arrived or not. As Callahan studied the claimant's inoffensive appearance walking away he rather thought it couldn't be over or that Bucks was mistaken. But Bucks never made a mistake.

Next morning at 7 the new yardmaster took hold. Callahan had intimated that the night air in the yard, it being low land, was miasmatic and that Shockley had maybe better try for awhile to do his switching in the daytime. Just before the appointed hour in the morning the assistant had looked out on his unlucky yard. He thought to himself that if that yard didn't drive a man to drink nothing ever would. Piled shanty high with a bewildering array of material, it was enough to take the heart out of a Denver switching crew.

While he stood at the window he saw their plug switch engine that had been kicked out of every other yard on the system wheeze out of the roundhouse, saw the new yardmaster flirt his hand at the engineer and swing up on the footboard, but the swing—it made Callahan's heart warm to him. Not the rubbery jump of the hoboes that had worried the life out of him all summer, even when the cattlemen didn't bother. It was the swing of the sailor into the shrouds, of the Cossack into the saddle, of the yacht into the wind. It was like falling down or falling up or falling on—the grace of a mastery of gravitation—that was Shockley's swing on the footboard of the yard engine as it shot snorting past him.

"He's all right," muttered Callahan. It was enough.

A man who dipped a tender like that was not like to go very wrong even in that chaos of rails and ties and stringers and coal.

"Now," continued Callahan to himself, timidly hopeful, "if the cuss only doesn't get to drinking!" He watched apprehensively, dreading the first time he should see him entering Pat Barlle's place, but Shockley didn't appear to know Pat had a place. The cowboys, too, watched him, waiting for his lamp to gleam at night down in the yard, but their patience was strained for a long time. Shockley got all his work done by daylight.

To the surprise of Callahan, and probably on the principle of the watched pot, the whole winter went without a brush between Shockley and the cowboys. Even Peg Leg Reynolds let him alone. "He's the hardest fellow on earth," remarked Callahan one day at McCloud in reply to a question from Bucks about Shockley. "There hasn't a shot been fired at him all winter."

"He wasn't always lucky," commented Bucks, signing a batch of letters.

"He came from Chicago," Bucks said on after a silence. "He was scrapping there on the Q at the time of the stockyards riots. Shockley used to drink like a pirate. I never knew just the right of it. I understood it was in a brawl. Anyway, he killed a man there—shot him and had to get away in a hurry. I was trainmaster. Shockley was a striker, but I'd always found him decent, and when his wife came to me about it I helped her out a little. She's dead since. His record isn't just right back there yet. There's something about the shooting hanging over him. I never set eyes on the fellow again till he struck me for a job at McCloud; then I sent him up to you. He claimed he'd quit drinking. Guess he had. Long as he's behaving himself I believe in giving him a chance, h'm?"

It really wasn't any longer a case of giving him a chance; rather of whether they could get on without him. When the Colorado Pacific began racing us into Denver that summer it began to crowd even Shockley to keep the yard clean. He saw he would have to have help.

"Chris, what do they give you for tinkering up the ties?" asked Shockley one day.

"Dollar an' a half."

"Why don't you take hold of switching with me and get $3?"

Chris was thunderstruck. First he said Callahan wouldn't let him, but Shockley "guessed yes." Then Chris figured. To save the last of the hundred dollars necessary to get the woman and the babies over it could be done in three months instead of six if only Callahan would listen. But when Shockley talked Callahan always listened, and when he asked for a new switchman he got him. And Chris got his $3, to him a sum unspeakable. By the time the woman and the children arrived in the fall Chris would have died for Shockley.

The fall that saw the woman and the stunted subjects of the czar stowed away under the bench in Little Russia brought also the cowboys down from Montana to bait the Russians.

One stormy night, when Chris thought it was perfectly safe to venture up to Rubedo's after groceries, the cowboys caught him and dragged him over to Pat Barlle's.

It was 7 when they caught him and by 9 they had put him through every pace that civilization could suggest. Peg Leg Reynolds, as always, master of ceremonies, then ordered him tied to the stove. When it was done the cowboys got into a big circle for a dance. The fur on Chris's coat had already begun to sizzle, when the front door opened. Shockley walked in.

Straight, in his ambling, hurried way, he walked past the deserted bar through the ring of cowboys at the rear to Chris frying against the stove and began cutting him loose. Through every knot that his knife slit he sent a very loud and very bad word, and no sooner had he freed Chris than he jerked him by the collar, as if quarreling with him, toward the back door, which was handy, and before the cowboys got wind he had shoved him through it.

"Hold on there!" cried Peg Leg Reynolds when it was just too late. Chris was out of it, and Shockley turned alone.

"All right, partner; what is it?" he asked amiably.

"You've got a ripping nerve."

"I know it."

"What's your name?"

"Shockley."

"Can you dance?"

"No."

It was Peg Leg's opportunity. He drew his gun. "I reckon maybe you can. Try it," he added, pointing the suggestion with the pistol. Shockley looked foolish. He didn't begin tripping soon enough and a bullet from the cowboy's gun splintered the baseboard at his feet. Shockley attempted to shuffle. To any one who didn't know him it looked funny. But Peg Leg was a rough dancing master and before he said "Enough" an ordinary man would have dropped exhausted. Shockley, breathing a good bit quicker, only steadied himself against the bar.

"Take off your hat before gentlemen," cried the cowboy. Shockley hesitated, but he did pull off his cap.

"That's more like it. What's your name?"

"Shockley."

"Shockley?" echoed Reynolds with a burst of range amenities. "Well, Shockley, you can't help your name. Drink for once in your life with a man of breeding—my name's Reynolds, Pat, set out the good bottle—this guy pays," exclaimed Peg Leg, wheeling to the bar.

"What'll it be?" asked Pat Barlle of Shockley, as he deftly slid a row of glasses in front of the men of breeding.

"Ginger ale for me," suggested Shockley mildly. The cowboys put up a single yell. Ginger ale! It was too funny.

Reynolds, choking with contempt, pointed to the yardmaster's glass. "Fill it with whisky!" he shouted. "Fill it, Pat!" he repeated, as Shockley leaned undecidedly against the bar. The yardmaster held out the glass and the barkeeper began to pour. Shockley looked at the liquor a moment, then he looked at Reynolds, who fronted him with gun in one hand and red water in the other.

"Drink!"

Shockley paused, looked again at the whisky and drew the glass toward him with the curving hand of a drinker. "You want me to drink this?" he half laughed, turning on his baiter.

"I didn't say so, did I? I said drink!" roared Peg Leg.

Everybody looked at Shockley. He stood fingering the glass quietly. Somehow everybody, drunk or sober, looked at Shockley. He glanced around at the crowd. Other guns were creeping from their holsters. He pushed the glass back, smiling.

"I don't drink whisky, partner," said Shockly gently.

"You drink that whisky or I'll put a little hole into you!"

Shockley reached good naturedly for the glass, threw the liquor on the floor and set it back on the bar.

"Go on!" said Shockley. It confused Reynolds.

"A man that'll waste good whisky oughtn't t' live anyhow," he muttered, fingering his revolver nervously. "You've spoiled my aim. Throw up your hat," he yelled. "I'll put a hole through that to begin with."

Instead Shockley put his cap back on his head.

"Put a hole through it there," said he. Reynolds set down his glass, and Shockley waited. It was the cowboy who hesitated.

"Where's your nerve?" asked the railroad man. The gun covered him with a flash and a roar. Reynolds, whatever his faults, was a shot. His bullet cut cleanly through the crown, and the powder almost burned Shockley's face. The switchman recovered himself instantly and, taking off his cap, laughed as he examined the hole.

"Done with me?" he asked evenly, cap in hand.

Peg Leg drained his glass before he spoke. "Get out!" he snapped. The switchman started on the word for the front door. When he opened it everybody laughed but Shockley.

Maybe an hour later Reynolds was sitting back of the stove in a card game when a voice spoke at his ear. "Get up!" Reynolds looked around into a pistol. Behind it stood Shockley, pleasant. "Get up!" he repeated. Nobody had seen him come in, but there he was and with an absolutely infantile gun, a mere baby gun, in the yellow light, but it shone like bright silver.

Reynolds with visible embarrassment stood up.

"Throw your cannon into the stove, Reynolds; you won't need it," suggested Shockley. Reynolds looked around. There appeared to be no hopeful alternative. The drop looked very cold. Not a cowboy interposed. Under convoy Reynolds stumped over to the stove and threw in his gun, but the grace of the doing was bad.

Peg Leg danced.

"Get up there on the bar and dance Hustle!" urged Shockley. They had to help the confused cowboy up, and when he stood, shamefaced, looking down on the scene of his constant triumphs and did a painful single foot, marking time with his peg, the cowboys, who had stood their own share of his bullying, roared. Shockley didn't roar; only stood with busy eyes where he could cover any man on demand, not forgetting even Pat Barlle.

To-day we want to talk to you about "Catarrh cures"

During the past few months we have been publishing what some of our good friends have called "heart-to-heart talks" on patent medicines.

That name suits us all right—"heart-to-heart talks" is just what we have intended. There can't be anything more serious to a sick man or sick woman than his ailment and the remedies he or she takes to cure it.

Our talks have been "heart-to-heart." Every word we have printed has been written in absolute earnestness and sincerity, and judging from what our customers tell us, we have not been talking in vain. We are convinced that our frankness has been appreciated, and that our suggestions have been welcomed—which naturally encourages us to continue.

To-day, and perhaps for some time to come, we want to talk about that big class of remedies known generally as "catarrh cures."

Broadly speaking these are the patent medicines that have been the chief targets for the attacks of the "Ladies' Home Journal," "Collier's Weekly" and other magazines which are waging such a lively warfare against patent medicine abuses.

As we have pointed out in previous talks, it is not our business to pass judgment on the crusade of these well-known, highly-respected publications. The public alone must be the judge and jury. Our business, as we see it, is to carry in stock a complete line of patent medicines, and to sell those medicines at the lowest possible price.

We sell hundreds—yes, thousands of bottles of so-called "catarrh cures," and know nothing of their ingredients. The manufacturers advertise them, the public demands them; we order them from the manufacturers, and sell them at the lowest price. That is absolutely as far as our knowledge goes. The manufacturer keeps his formula a secret. It may be good, or it may not—we don't know, and we have no means of finding out.

Naturally, we would rather sell a remedy that we know is right—that we can back up with all our reputation for honesty and square-dealing.

And wouldn't you rather buy that kind of a remedy? Wouldn't you rather hold us responsible than to hold no one responsible? We are right here, right where you can get at us every day in the week, right where one false move on our part will bring upon us your condemnation, the loss of your friendship, your patronage, your influence. Can we afford to tell you anything that you will learn later is not absolutely true?

Are you not safer in taking our word for the merits of an article, than you are to rely on the printed statement of a patent medicine manufacturer, whom you never even saw and probably never will?

Common sense most emphatically tells you that we cannot afford to depart one hair's breadth from the rigid truth.

None of us can deny that there is such a disease known as "catarrh." Those who have it, or who have had it, know that it is one of the hardest diseases to cure.

Perhaps the worst thing about catarrh is its prevalence. Almost everyone—especially in a climate like ours—has catarrh in some form or another. That is what has made the "catarrh cure" business so profitable. There are so many thousands of cases of the disease and it is so hard to cure, that the patent medicine manufacturers have reaped a harvest in preparing remedies that appeal to this large class of sufferers.

One of the most serious things about catarrh is that it breaks down the system, so that the sufferer becomes a prey to other diseases. This fact has led the proprietors of so many "catarrh cures" to advertise their remedies as a specific for almost every disease under the sun.

We have ONE catarrh cure that we are willing to say to you; "We know this is all right. Take it home and use it with the full assurance that if it does not cure you, you can bring it back to us and we will promptly refund your money." That catarrh cure is

Rexall

MUCU-TONE

There is no guess work with us on Rexall Mucu-Tone. We know what it is made of.

Not only do we know, but we will give you a copy of the formula.

There is no secret about any Rexall remedy—we make them—one thousand of us leading druggists all over America—in our great co-operative laboratories at Boston, Mass. We own the laboratories, and everything in them, and we operate them just as skillfully as our combined brains and money will let us, and just as honestly as honest men know how.

The Ingredients of Mucu-Tone

The chief ingredients of Mucu-Tone are Gentian, Cubebs, Cascara Sagrada, Glycerine, and Sarsaparilla.

Gentian is recognized in medicine as one of the greatest tonics ever discovered. It is the foundation on which Mucu-Tone is built. Gentian combines in high degree the tonic powers of all the known "bitters," with none of the disadvantages applying to them.

Cubebs have long been recognized as a specific in the treatment of all catarrhal conditions. Its action is prompt and its benefits almost invariable. In whatever part of the body the inflamed or diseased condition of the mucous membrane exists, the use of Cubebs has been recommended by the best physicians for many generations.

Cascara Sagrada is especially introduced for its necessary laxative properties.

The combination of these with Glycerine and Sarsaparilla makes Mucu-Tone a remedy that attacks catarrh from every point, gradually restores and rebuilds the diseased tissues to their former health and strength, promotes digestion and creates a normal appetite. Large trial bottle, 50c.

For Sale Only at This Store.

How can you know whether or not you have catarrh?

Well, here are the symptoms that usually indicate its presence. Check them over, and if you have any of them, try a bottle of Rexall Mucu-Tone.

THE NEWS OF DUNBAR.

Marriage of Miss Edna Duncan and Dr. James P. Scott.

A FINE HOME TALENT AFFAIR.

Bright Local and Personal Chat and Brief Paragraphs Picked Up by The Courier's Correspondent in the Furnace Town.

Dunbar, Feb. 28.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at this place today. The contracting parties being Miss Edna Duncan, daughter of Squire and Mrs. A. C. Duncan, and Dr. James P. Scott. The ceremony was performel at 3 o'clock in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends. Rev. J. W. Munden, pastor of the M. E. Church, officiating. Miss Sadie Barton and D. C. Eason were the attendants. The bride is a very popular young lady and up until recently she has been the obliging chief operator for the Tri-State Telephone Company at this place. The groom has for the past three years been a resident dentist and enjoys a large patronage. He graduated from the W. U. P. College in the class of 1903. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. B. Scott of Morris Cross Roads. Mr. and Mrs. Scott leave this evening for a short visit in Pittsburg returning here they will be at home after April 1 in apartments in the new building now being erected by D. C. Foltz. Mr. Scott will also have his office on the third floor of this building. Both young people are well known in Uniontown and Connellsville and throughout the county and have a large circle of friends who join in best wishes for them as they embark upon the sea of married life.

Frank H. Spearman's railroad stories begin in this issue. Don't fail to read them.

Misses Maude and Katheryn Tormay of Connellsville and James P. Cooley of Scottdale were here Monday evening attending the play given by the St. Aloysius choir.

A big boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lehman Monday.

The Dunbar cornet band will have a rehearsal on Thursday evening for the colored minstrel which they will give in the near future.

Frank Soldonia is on the sick list at the present writing.

Harley Yeo, who has been assistant superintendent of the Dunbar Sand Manufacturing Company for some time, left today for Elwood, Pa., where he has accepted a position as superintendent for a stone quarry.

Mrs. William Walls and Mrs. Chas. Collins of Uniontown were here yesterday, the guests of friends.

E. A. Hill of Bath, N. Y., was among the business men calling in Dunbar Tuesday.

A. F. Allard was here from Scottdale yesterday transacting business.

Charles Cook of Toledo, O., was registered at the Central Hotel yesterday.

"Our Godfather From Paris" and "The Last Loaf," which were presented in the St. Aloysius Hall by the St. Aloysius choir on Monday and Tuesday evening of this week were grand successes and those who in any way assisted in the performances are to feel encouraged with the success which they had. The program opened with a short musical prelude, during which time the male quartette delighted the large audience. The first performance, "Our Godfather," was acted out by the children, ranging from 12 to 15 years of age. The play pictured clearly how one may miss the fortunes that may be in store for us by our failure to properly treat opportunities. Each of those who took part is to be commended for the manner in which their part was performed "The Last Loaf" has running through it a very captivating plot and is full of comedy. The cast of characters were as follows: Mark Ashton, Charles Mahoney; Caleb Hanson, James J. Barrett; Harry Hanson, his son, T. V. Daily; Dick Bustle, a baker, Barney McGivern; Tom Chubbs, the butcher, James C. DeOre; Kate Ashton, Mark's wife, Nora Mahoney, Lily Ashton, their daughter, Mary Kerwin; Patty Jones, a Yankee girl, Margaret Murphy. Barney McGivern and James DeOre in their love-making with Patty Jones, the Yankee girl, kept the house in an uproar all the time. James J. Barrett as the villain presented a good appearance and played his part strong. Charles Mahoney acted the drunken sot in a manner that was as real as one ever witnessed. For lack of space we will make no further comment save to say that they all played their parts in a manner that delighted the audience.

Has Settled With Wife.

John A. Harshman of Brownsville, convicted of desertion and non-support, has paid $200 in settlement of all claims and will apply for a divorce.

DAWSON.

Live Notes From the Busy Little Town Down the Yough.

Dawson, Feb. 28.—John L. Thomas, general agent at Dickerson scales, was a Pittsburg busines caller Monday.

Mrs. Mary Bryson went to Pittsburg Tuesday, where she will spend the next few days.

Fred Battinger moved Tuesday into the A. J. Cochran house recently occupied by Dr. Crawshaw, Galley street.

We wish to correct an article published in The Courier where John Moore was arrested at New Haven for larceny. This was a mistake as the name was John Moody instead of John Moore. Moody does not live at Dawson. He went to a man by the name of Bowers, near town, and hired a horse and buggy, which he tried to sell. It was for that the warrant was issued for his arrest.

Miss Emma Jones was calling on friends at Connellsville Tuesday evening.

Miss Lydia Cunnigham was calling on friends at Dickerson Run Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. Percy McGibbons, who have been in New York for the past 10 days, have returned home.

Frank Strickler, a P. & L. E. engineer at Glassport, was a business caller here Tuesday.

Miss Grace Moore of East Dawson, who is attending school at McKeesport, spent Sunday here with her parents.

Dr. H. J. Bell was a Pittsburg business caller Monday.

William Haggerty, who has been in Florida for the past month, has returned home. His brother, Raphiel, who went south with him will remain for a few more weeks.

Mrs. Mary Henry, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clymer Painter, has returned home.

Miss Cora Laughrey was up to Connellsville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koontz of McKeesport spent Sunday here with Mrs. Koontz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore.

T. V. Molleston left for Pittsburg this morning where he will remain for a few days after which he will start for Michigan. Mr. Molleston is a member of a firm who have a number of amusement parks unter contract, which they operate during the summer. Mr. Molleston will have charge of one of the parks in Canada this summer.

OHIOPYLE.

Notes from the Little Mountain Resort Up the Yough.

Ohiopyle, Feb. 28.—T. M. Miller, traveling salesman, was soliciting orders in our village yesterday.

Archibald Grindle of Kentuck was a business caller in town yesterday.

James Struthers, our wagon-maker, paid Connellsville a flying business call yesterday.

The spelling bee which is to be held in the Belle Grove school house Friday night promises to be a brilliant success.

Howard Rush was seen on our streets yesterday.

Thomas Soese is now going his rounds with a hugh 8x10 smile lighting up his face, all because a baby girl arrived at his home recently.

About two inches of the beautiful fell here yesterday.

Clarence Bailey of Whig Corner was looking after matters of a business nature in town yesterday.

Saturday was the Ohiopyle Company's pay day.

Robert Thorpe was a Connellsville business caller Monday morning.

Country butter is still in demand in Ohiopyle. The only thing in the butter line now on the market being creamery butter, which sells at 35c a pound. The price of country butter has advanced to 30c a pound, but still none can be had. This is the first time in many years that the butter market has been so slim at this place.

Mrs. Samuel Geiest was shopping in town yesterday.

Prayer meeting services in the Baptist Church tonight.

Herbert Slagle, who has been on the sick list for the past several days, is again able to be about.

Hiram Bailey has purchased the property of Alfred Mitchell on Grant street. The property is at present occupied by Jesse McFarland.

Begin the month of March right, by subscribing for the Daily Courier, the only reliable daily paper in Fayette county. Delivered at your home or place of business for 1 cent per copy.

Louis McFarland returned on train No. 10 Monday night from Scottdale, where he had been looking after business matters for a few days.

Ross Bryner was in town yesterday.

Notice.

We want help to introduce a new article that is just as useful in a ladies' work basket as a needle and thread, and have decided to give away a boy's suit, any age between 6 and 16, free of charge to any person who will sell 36 packages at 20 cents each. PRESS AGENT YARNS.

What They Say of Plays Coming to the Colonial Theatre.

When the Weber and Fields' production of their immensely successful musical comedy, "Hoity Toity," opens for an engagement at the Colonial Theater February 28, there will be many hearty laughs, more chuckles, and still more smiles; there will also be a sense of pleased appreciation of the beautiful scenery, costumes and staging; also a number of things in the music that once can whistle, and when one leaves the theatre whistling it bodes good for a musical comedy. That Weber & Fields have produced this musical comedy with lavish extravagance; that the book was written by Edgar Smith, and that the music was written by John Stromberg, accounts for all this, they always do right, there is no half-way business about it. Each year they provide a tired public with a chance for absolute recreation. In a two hours laugh that cannot help but rejuvenate every weary spirit that comes to see one of their clever musical absurdities; and the rare good humor that is dispensed through the medium of "Hoity Toity" will certainly be welcomed by the patrons of the Colonial Theatre.

"Hoity Toity" comes direct from Weber & Fields' own theatre on Broadway, where for a solid year it was conceded by all to be the real beauty show of the town. The chorus is composed not of the ordinary chorus girls, but girls who are able to play parts and act; and the different and intricate stage business and dances produced by that Napoleon of stage directors, Julian Mitchell, is sure to be a rare treat. It is frankly admitted that the plot will not be a strain upon one's intellect, but the hysterical comedy, tuneful music, dazzling beauty of the fair sex together with the beautiful costumes and scenery, will provide just the kind of an entertainment that lovers of musical comedy admire and desire.

The Tenderfoot.

Fresh from its third run in Chicago, and with a record of 100 nights in New York to its credit, "The Tenderfoot" with Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White as the stars, will be the big musical attraction at the Colonial Theatre March 1. Never has more swinging or characteristic music been heard in a musical comedy than in "The Tenderfoot." There is a dash about the musical numbers that sets the feet tapping and the blood moving faster. Richard Carle wrote a musical gem when he wrote the book of "The Tenderfoot," for there is no more picturesque musical piece before the public, and certainly none that contains more good clean wit and humor. Oscar L. Figman is said by the Chicago critics to be a revelation in the leading comedy role of Professor Pettibone, while Ruth White belongs to the part of Marion one of the finest soprano voices now heard in light opera. The rest of the cast is a notable one, containing such well known names as Jethro Warner a tenor of fine achievements, Harry B. Williams, one of the best dancers on the stage, Fred Bailey, George Romain, M. H. Baldwin, J. F. Rooney, H. S. Burns, Louise Brackett, Etta Lockhart, Frankie Warner, Pfeela Lockhart, Mabel Lorena and Dolly Castle. The organization is one of the largest on tour in America, numbering nearly seventy people.

ROAD SUPERVISORS.

Annual Meeting Will Be Largely Attended, It Is Expected.

The annual meeting of road supervisors of the Westmoreland County Good Roads Association will be held in Brinkers' Hall, Greensburg, Friday, March 2, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of officers. A full explanation of the new law relating to township road supervisors will be given. The duties of supervisors and auditors will be discussed.

No supervisor or auditor can afford to miss this meeting. All persons interested in good roads are cordially invited to attend.

Thieves at Brier Hill.

Robbers, supposed to be negroes, entered the home of Thomas Phelan, a butcher at the Union Supply Company store at Brier Hill, some time Saturday night and stole one suit of clothes, an extra vest and a valuable set of furs, belonging to Mrs. Phelan. Entrance was gained by a window.
